

Client:

Associated Newspapers, Kensington, London.

Sector:

National newspaper owners.

Value:

£1.2 million

The Brief:

McGoff & Vickers were employed to undertake a £1.2million refurbishment of the second floor of the company's Northcliffe House headquarters used by the Metro newspaper and Associated Newspapers Media Group.

Case Studies

Associated Newspapers, Kensington, London.

The Process:

We completed the electrical installation as detailed in the consultant's design specifications and drawings to CAT A and CAT B fit out standards. Within the same timescale we undertook the infrastructure works within the basement and risers, fitting a new transformer, cubical switch gear and new uninterruptible power supplies.

Result:

We met all the client's requirements. Very satisfied with our work, the building contractor in their post project meeting praised McGoff & Vickers with a top rating for a job completed on time, within budget and to a high standard. The 35,000 sq ft of space at Northcliffe House is now being used by more than 300 employees.

Customer Satisfaction:

"It is to McGoff & Vickers credit that they have such a long serving and dedicated workforce. Excellent work carried out in a professional manner."
